Gabby Hollosi

INSTRUCTOR

About Gabby:

Gabby studied Finance at Stetson University and The University of Florida. Upon entering the workforce, she has been assisting people with their financial transactions since 2016. Her passion for finance shows in everything she does, including her own transactions. At age 21, Gabby purchased her first home, which was also a multi-family property. While "living free with a mortgage payment", Gabby became a landlord. This helped her develop knowledge and insight into homeownership and wealth building through real estate. Along with her personal experience, Gabby grew up in the real estate world, which helps her understand the processes and procedures around the entire transaction.

What students are saying: Hands down one of the best classes I have had in years. WOW Gabby Letourneau's practical approach to investing in Real Estate was super detailed and gave us all a whole new perspective on how to better help our investors. -T.C.
